WELCOME FROM THE PRESIDENT

WELCOME TO THE 2020 WJLS...

Welcome WJLS exhibitors and families. I'm excited to be part of a show that has been going on for 83 years. I wonder what must have been going thru the minds of the people that were putting on and attending the very first WJLS. I'm thinking it was maybe a lot like this show or any other show. I'm thinking there were maybe some feelings of excitement, doubt, some anxiety or even frustration. Being parents of former WJLS participants, I know my wife and I have had all of those feelings. The excitement of going to Rapid City for a few days and bringing out livestock for the first time or the last, wondering how they'll look compared to other livestock or excitement of meeting old friends and familiar faces. But along with that comes the other feelings, like boy... how are our children going to get all that homework done, go to all the sports events and practices plus many other things and still have time to get all of their entries ready for the WJLS. I don't think showing livestock is or ever will be just the exhibitor's project. It takes team work with your family and maybe even other families to make all of that come together. So, with that being said, my hats off to all parents and exhibitors out there that have experienced some of these feelings. There is so much to be learned in life, when we work as a team, whether it's with your family or others, it builds relationships and character, but it also teaches us all, that we are more likely to accomplish things in life, when we work hard and are dedicated to the things we strive for. I'm honored to be the WJLS President. I've learned so much about this show and what it takes to make things go smoothly, and a lot from the people who have dedicated so much of their time to it. I admit I've made a few mistakes, but as my parents taught me that making mistakes is part of the learning process (as long as we don't keep repeating them) and I'm definitely trying to learn from that. Thanks for this opportunity to serve as your President and thank you to all who volunteer your time to this show!

*Respectfully,
Joel Lau*

P.S Encourage your fellow exhibitors and families. Be competitive, show to win, but do it honestly, respectfully.

Thank you, Supporters

The directors of Western Junior Livestock Show would like to thank all of the generous sponsors who donate time, product or equipment to the show. It is great sponsors like you who make the show continue to grow and succeed.

WELCOME FROM THE # WESTERN 4-H PRESIDENT

As a very scared 9 year old in 1964 to president of the Board of Directors in 2020 the Western Family and Consumer Science Show has been an important part of my fall schedule. I certainly don't remember the ribbon placings but what I remember are the friends and knowledge that I gained along the way. Even as an adult I look forward to seeing the friends that I have gained because of my involvement with the FCS Show. This is what I want for all of you, friendships and experiences that you will carry with you throughout your life.

2020 has been a year of great challenges; pandemic, few county fairs, most clubs not meeting, social distancing and virtual shows becoming a reality but the Western 4-H Family and Consumer Science Show is proceeding regardless of a world that has been turned upside down. Now in its 58th year it continues to provide youth of all ages and adults a chance to compete in a variety of contests in two days. Volunteer driven, the Board of Directors have worked countless hours to provide you with a variety of learning experiences that relate to our ever changing world.

The competition and contests are great but most importantly are the friendships made, learning experiences, the sense of community, cooperation and seeing adults give so generously of their time to put together this show is what is really important. Please thank them for giving so generously of their time and talents.

Welcome to the 2020 Western 4-H Family and Consumer Sciences Show. May it be a wonderful experiences that you will cherish for a life time.

Peggy Turbiville

Western Buffalo Company Honored

WJ

Bruce Anderson, of Western Buffalo Company, lives in Rapid Valley in Rapid City. He is married and together they have two boys and two girls. Though he says his kids are more sports oriented, Anderson has been a part of Western Junior for some time. “We have worked with Western Junior mostly as a processor and sponsor,” said Anderson. “We have processed live sheep, hogs and cattle and also carcasses in the carcass futurity,” he added.

Anderson believes that Western Junior gives both participants and local businesses a great opportunity to interact and learn about each other’s businesses. He doesn’t hesitate to say that he would recommend Western Junior to any participants and sponsors who want to have a positive effect on this region’s agriculture. He also added that Western Junior is a great way to get the next generation involved in the nuts and bolts of agriculture. “I personally am proud to be a small part of Western Junior’s ongoing success,” he said.

It is important, now more than ever, to understand other people’s problems, opportunities and values without losing sight of our own problems, opportunities and values. “Western Junior gives participants the chance to see beyond their own world into the realities of the bigger picture,” said Anderson.

As he watched others receive recognition through the years, Anderson said he always wondered if he could do as good of a job long term, like they had. “It is great, as well as humbling, to be recognized as a long term contributor to a great program like Western Junior.”

Angie Kinsley honored

My name is Angie Kinsley. My husband Marty and I live northwest of Murdo, South Dakota, where we farm and ranch. Both of us grew up in the Jones County area and we couldn't imagine a life anywhere else. We raised our two sons, Kelly and Anthony, on the ranch where Kelly has now taken over the lead role in the operation. When the boys became Marty's right hand men, I began working outside of the home for the Cooperative Extension Service in the 4-H office, with SD Court Services and currently as the Director of Equalization for Jones County. We are beyond blessed having five grandchildren that live near us and whom we get to spend time with.

Western Junior, for me, has never been about the ribbons and trophies, although I feel I have earned my fair share. It was about the friendships and comradery of like-minded families, meeting new friends, and the fun of learning about the livestock industry.

My first WJLS experience was in 1974 with a Hereford steer named Buddy. He was a red ribbon bucket calf that taught me great lessons about animal husbandry and finances...namely if you work with an animal closely enough every day, a piece of baling twine will work for a halter because they just follow you around wherever you go. Also if you are still feeding a 900 lb fat steer milk replacer you are not going to make a profit. Compassion was a tough one though, as Buddy was also my first lesson in love and loss when the 8 yr old Angie bawled her eyes out loading him on the semi-trailer.

My three sisters and I all showed cattle at WJLS. We still carry these lessons along with many more thanks to my parents, Lawrence, former WJLS Director, and Evie Roghair who allowed us to experience each of them with grace and guidance. Marty and I strived to instill the Learn by Doing 4-H motto into our boys as they became WJLS showmen. In a couple years when the grandkids reach 4-H age, we hope to do the same for them.

My WJLS experience began at an early age and continued as a showman and member until I graduated from the 4-H program. Becoming a 4-H Leader and promoting the show was a natural progression of my 4-H career and when asked to serve as a State 4-H Leader at Large for WJLS by Lee Newsam, I was honored to step up to the plate. Following in Lee's steps as President of the organization really brought to light the countless hours of volunteer work that it takes to make a three day show possible.

I will always go above and beyond to promote a WJLS atmosphere of friends and family to any young person that will listen. It isn't the sparkle that should get you there but the football games on the lawn with friends you don't know yet, icicles hanging off your nose while washing your calf, and the whole family with five extras piled into the camper for a card game. Once a young person has tried it, I dare them not to want to return next year. From there the fun can turn into rewards including tangible and monetary prizes along with college scholarships and career building opportunities not to mention lifelong friendships.

Word of mouth and our actions as adult leaders are our greatest recruitment tool.

We are both currently raising cow/ calf pairs. We have two daughters. Alicia Burtzloff Kunz and family, Buffalo Gap, SD and Rachell Burtzloff Barrett and family, Sutherland, NE. I have four grandboys, Hunter(11) and Brock(5) Kunz. Von(7) and Oliver (5) Barrett.

I have deep roots in the Western Junior Livestock Show. My dad, Paul Jean Petty, became a director in 1953. He served on many committees and was a past president. He was so proud of the committees that he set up during his presidency. My mom, Alberta, also helped with the Livestock Judging among other things. Western Junior was a big part of my life. My sister, Linda Kay, who is 10 years older, started showing there in the 1960's. I couldn't wait to have my turn!! There was a bunch of 4-H families from Fall River County that got together and stayed at a motel for the show. It was really exciting. I showed sheep, cattle and did livestock judging. I won a trip to Little "T" and National Western Stock Show. I remember one time when we had a bad snow storm right before Western Junior. Daddy plowed out the road so we could go to the show. It must have made a big impression on me cuz I remember it. He was very dedicated to the show. Believing in it totally!

Fast forward! I went to SDSU and graduated in 1981. Married in 1982 and resided in Chadron, NE. My husband, Marshall and I had two daughters, Alicia, 1983 and Rachel, 1985. In 1995, we moved back to the ranch near Hot Springs, SD. I had talked Daddy into letting the girls show one of his calves and that is what lead us back to Western Junior. At the December 1995 Western Junior meeting, my Dad resigned as a director for Fall River County after 42 years and asked that I take his place and that is how I became a director for Western Junior Livestock Show. What a privilege and honor for me. My dad had been on the awards committee with Darold Bishop at that time and it seemed natural for me to take his place. When my girls were still showing, Darold would hold down the fort while I helped the girls. He was awesome to work with!! In later years, Darold decided to step down and he handed the reins over to me. The awards for the Western Junior Livestock Show is a big job. Seems like a new class or new sponsors are added every year. We ordered ribbons, trophies, speciality awards, director name tags and buckles. We even had wonderful sponsors who gave gift certificates to each of the participants at the show. I had a very awesome committee who helped me keep everything straight!!

My daughter, Alicia Kunz became a director a few years back and her son, Hunter has been showing livestock there. So we are carrying on the tradition the Western Junior tradition.

It is amazing how many families have ties to the Western Junior Livestock Show. Visiting with people across the state, it is a common thread. Everyone has their own Western Junior Livestock story. You hear what an awesome show it is. Great environment and wonderful people. It is an awesome show because of the many Volunteers who help each other every year put on the show. From setting up to tearing down. To having coffee in the office with dear friends who we only see once a year!! Or setting at the membership table!! Visiting with someone at the awards table! Great memories and friends!!

I challenge the Western Junior Livestock Directors to find new ways to work with the 4-H kids and their families so they can and will participate in the show. Such as letting participants go early because of sports without a penalty or not charging extra for late entries. Or letting some entry changes happen at the show. It's a different world than when we grew up. The 4-Hers and families have many demands on their time. There are also a bunch of extra activities to choose from. The Western Junior Board needs to pick and choose what is important.

What an honor to be chosen by the Western Junior Livestock Show board of directors. Thank you so much!! I have joined an elite group of people who I have looked up to all my life. Kind of gives me goose bumps!! It has been an awesome 25 years!!

Leddy Family is Consumer Science Honoree

Rich in tradition for many families is being a part of the 4-H program, so it was no surprise that growing up Donnie Leddy and Krecia (Beitelspacher) Leddy participated and were part of the legacy that the Western Jr. Livestock Show offers many families. While both attended the show growing up in the mid-1980's neither recall crossing paths at the show. Krecia recalls early participation in the Meat ID contest on the Family and Consumer Science side of the show which helped hone her skills later for FFA Meats Judging.

Donnie and Krecia had such fond memories of the show they made the first six-hour trek as a family out to the Central States Fairgrounds in 2007. Recognizing the importance of the Family and Consumer Science (FCS) side of the show they encouraged their children Kiera, Kadon, and Korbin to be active participants in the FCS Show as well as livestock show. From bread baking to the range plant identification contest, the Leddy children gained life-long skills and a strong work ethic from the show.

The Leddy family attended Western Jr. until 2017—only missing it once in 2013 because of a cancellation due to the Atlas blizzard. The children participated in fashion review, FCS quiz bowl, bread baking, meat identification and judging, produce identification and judging, place setting, goat show, swine show, steer show, livestock judging, grass and range plant identification, family life photo, home living exhibit, FCS Skill-a-thon, beginner measuring contest, public presentations, and FCS judging. All three children were awarded the premier exhibitor. Additionally, Kiera was a Denver trip winner. One of their favorite memories was learning how to make caramel rolls after the bread baking contest.

But it is the people, not the awards, who are cherished most by the Leddy family. Ree Reich taught them leftover dough scraps can be pieced together to make terrific caramel rolls. Peggy Turbiville gifted Kiera wool fabric to help her get started in the Make it with Wool sewing competition. LaDonna McKnight was always there to greet them with a smile at registration. Chris Maupin taught them table setting tips that they applied to the Placesetting contest. Of course, none of these memories would be possible without the time and effort of the volunteers to ensure the continuation of the show. These people and many others are the reason the Leddy family kept coming back to the show year after year.

Kiera (23) is a student at Drake Law in Des Moines, Kadon (21) will be graduating from South Dakota State University in December, and Korbin (16) is a junior at Milbank High School. In addition to their personal career goals, each child plans to stay involved with their family's business, The Cattle Business Weekly. The Leddy family is honored to be a recipient of this award and extend their thanks to all of the volunteers who keep this show running year after year.

In addition the Board would like to acknowledge the Leddy's families support of the Silent Auction both as contributors and buyers. Through their business, "The Cattle Business Weekly," the Leddy family has promoted and encouraged many to participate in the Western FCS and Livestock Shows.

We are very pleased to honor the Donnie and Krecia Leddy family as the 2020 Honorees.

South Dakota Farmers Union Herd Builder Award

Since 1915, South Dakota Farmers Union (SDFU) has advocated and supported the family farm and the significance it plays in rural communities across the state. With the struggles and current economy, it is hard for young producers to get Capital to start their own herd. SDFU wants to help and will be awarding a young individual with a Herd Builder Heifer raised by local family farmer, Allen Beare. This heifer will help a young person learn the process of building a herd or growing an existing herd.

Those who choose a career in public service have faced the question, "If not me, then who?" This was a question I faced daily growing up on a farm. Raising livestock instilled in me responsibility, trustworthiness, and respect. You need to feed and care for livestock daily when you are their caretaker. Even in times of inclement weather, you still have the responsibility to ensure their well-being. Raising livestock is comparable to public service. You may be appointed, elected, or employed to help ensure the well-being of others. Whether this responsibility come sin the form of creating legislation or serving justice, you hold a stake in an other's life.

Gandhi said, "The best way to find yourself is to lose yourself in the service of others." In high school, I served as a page for the South Dakota Senate. My grandpa served as a district senator and even though I never met him, it was a humbling experience to learn about his service at our state's capitol. I hope to find a way to serve in a similar position one day.

Through my work experiences, I chose opportunities that would expand my knowledge of the government and the agricultural industry. From living in Washington, D.C., to the metropolitan of Des Moines, I have witnessed the detrimental effects of governmental overreach. In my career, I plan to stand up for what is right, even if it is not always popular, in order to preserve rural America and the values our country was founded on.

I chose to attend law school because of the impact it will allow me to make in the agricultural industry. However, I will always remain involved with my family's business, the Cattle Business Weekly, and use the skills I obtained at Oklahoma State University to progress it forward.

In law school, I clerk for the Iowa Farm Bureau. Through this position, I have learned how to solve issues surrounding wind energy, eminent domain, solar energy, electric transmission lines, local food, water and so much more. Even though I plan to return to South Dakota after law school, the skills I have gained helping Iowa's farmers will be applicable in my home state.

This school year I will serve as the vice president for the Drake Agricultural and Environmental Law Association. Through this position, I plan to coordinate monthly online meetings and have attorneys in the agricultural industry share their personal experiences. I recognize how tight-knit the agricultural community is and how important it is to start building your network while in school. I hope sharing my connections with others will lead to a strong legal community to fight for what is right in the agricultural industry.

Next summer I plan to intern in South Dakota and begin the process of finding a job. I plan to take the South Dakota bar exam and return home after I graduate in the spring of 2022. I believe having the skills obtained through a Juris Doctorate will help me create opportunities yet preserve traditions in rural America. Whether this is through the state government or in private practice, I am open to opportunities. As Abraham Lincoln said, "Whatever you are, be a good one."

BRIDGER GORDON

Bridger Gordon

I recently read a news article that cited a college professor who claimed that agricultural economics was the most important field of study in the world. This immediately got my attention, because I have been studying economics with a focus on international agriculture as a student at Harvard University since the fall of 2018.

The article went on to explain that because everyone needs food to survive- and because many other daily products are derived from agriculture from fuel to lumber, leather, clothing and medicines- agricultural economics impacts every aspect of domestic and global economies. Having grown up in a rural community and involved in 4-H and FFA, I've become keenly aware of the importance of agriculture in everyone's daily lives. But what I was not as aware of until recently, is that most kids do not have the connection to agriculture that I have had.

I realize this means that in the future, those of us from rural backgrounds have a big role ahead. We need people with agricultural roots to work within the industry, to communicate and teach others about agriculture, and to be willing to address the challenges that lie ahead for agriculture. I hope to be among those who serve those roles.

Because I enjoy math and analyzing data, as well as history, geography, agriculture and government policy, I am eager to learn and eventually work in the field of agricultural economics. Specifically, I would like to pursue a career with a government agency or Ag trade organization and have a role in economic analysis and projections for agricultural markets. I have been fortunate to already had experience in this arena via my summer 2019 USDA internship in Washington, D.C. I believe that from the data generated, and as technology advances, there are amazing future opportunities to help Ag producers apply that information to make their farms and ranches more profitable. With less than 2% of the U.S. population presently in production agriculture, and with the global population rapidly increasing, success of agricultural producers is critically important now- and for future decades.

As I pursue my college and career goals, I also intend to keep my 4-H experiences close at hand- public speaking, critical thinking and decision making, time management and leadership. As a 10-year 4-H member I've learned that not everything is learned from a textbook or classroom, and there are many opportunities to get involved and connect with people.

Ultimately, I hope to use my education to make a difference- in my own knowledge and abilities, as well as contributing to the community around me. I enjoy gaining new perspectives from people who have different backgrounds that I- both during my college and career experiences. I hope to live and work in different places early in my career to also gain new insights and ideas. But eventually, I hope to return to my home state of South Dakota to pursue my career and make a difference. And, because of my experiences in 4-H, high school debate and Boys State, one day I am interest in serving in state government- as a legislator, cabinet member, or perhaps higher offices. I value the opportunity we have in America to be a part of the decision making process at the local, state and national level- and I believe having a business and economics background, as well as agricultural roots, will be beneficial to those roles.

I was raised working on our family ranch and raising commercial Angus cattle. As the sixth generation to grow up on the same land, our ranching heritage is very important to me and I would like to take an ownership role in our ranch. Working alongside my family has provided an endless supply of memories of hardship and laughter. I want to provide the same memories and opportunities for my children and for my children's children. I have been very involved in 4-H; judging and showing cattle and other livestock for many years. I participated in Western Jr every year I was eligible from 2006-2016, except for the year it was cancelled due to Snowstorm Atlas. I enjoyed showing market steers, market lambs, market goats and breeding heifers as well as participated in livestock judging at Western Junior. One of the most beneficial things I took away from 4-H was learning about production agriculture.

Through my past work experiences and my upbringing, I see myself doing a lot in the agriculture industry. Raising market steers every year for the county fair has sparked my interest in the beef market and all aspects that go along with it. We have marketed our steers as feeder yearlings and also have retained ownership on them as they go through the feedlot. I am very interested in how feeding and various conditions can improve meat quality and carcass traits. I am very interested in raising Angus bulls that can bring desired traits to ranchers all over the country. Currently, we AI most of our heifers and many cows, and I would also like to try embryo transfer to raise the bulls I wasn't to sell. I also plan to get very involved in my community by participating in the agricultural industry boards of directors, non-profits and organizations.

My 2019 internship in Magdalena, Mexico, involved teaching children about beef production and showmanship. This really sparked my interests of improving and education agricultural communities in developing countries. Agriculture is one of the most common occupations of people living in poverty in developing countries. Upon graduating college I would like to travel to poverty-stricken countries and provide farm and ranch management consulting to local individuals. I would like to show them how to market their product more appropriately for their economy and environment. I want to help provide the opportunity for families to climb out of poverty on their own through their own business. I also want to encourage young children in poverty to help their family business. Eventually my goal would be to turn this into a non-profit volunteer program where college students would get the chance to intern and help these poverty-stricken families. This would provide valuable training for students to enhance their education and could have a huge impact on the economies in less developed countries. Through this program many people could get the chance to receive the same benefits that I have received from being involved in agriculture.

My family has inspired me through the values of hard work and dedication to carry on the family tradition of operating our family cattle ranch. They have also inspired me to chase a new dream to provide agricultural consulting to poverty-stricken families. I also would like to bring new ideas and technology to our ranch. I hope I can achieve my goals and do so in a respectable way. I see myself doing a lot to advance the agricultural industry and community; what I have previously state is only a glimpse of what I want to achieve. This scholarship would give me the opportunity to enhance my education so I can obtain my goals. Thank you for considering me.
